Fair Notes.

Everything considered this year's exhibition must be called a great success.

The weather was almost ideal.

The special train from North Troy Thursday seemed to fill a need and was much appreciated. Next year it should be run from Richford.

Scarcely a "kick" was heard on the new admission price of 35 cents.

The White sewing machine booth of F. B. Lamber of Lowell was one of the most popular in floral hall and W. C. Ellis, "silk artist", was busy every minute making souvenirs. The popular souvenir consisted of one's name stitched with Corticelli shaded silk on a background of silk ribbon. Mr. Ellis certainly is an artist with a machine.

The merry-go-round and Ferris wheel both did the usual fine business, pleasing hundreds of children—and very often an older person or two.

The Sharples and Hinman milking machines were each exhibited and drew the attention of the farmers to an unusual degree. The milking machine appears to be the coming method of solving the help problem on the farm and the interest displayed by large numbers of farmers in these practical machines shows that they touch a responsive chord in the farmer and fill a real need.

A man, presumably belonging to a gang of three to five pickpockets, was arrested Thursday night at the depot in the act of lifting a pocket book. He and assistants resisted the arrest and four men were necessary to take him. He was lodged in the lockup here and taken to Newport later to await trial before Judge Thompson today. Forty-eight dollars in money was found in his clothes.

Cow testing, good cows, and prosperous farmers appear to go hand in hand. A stroll among the dairymen with exhibits at the fair told the story. Ask how much such a cow produced and the testing record comes out immediately. Almost without exception the good dairy exhibits were in testing associations. Test that's the only way to KNOW. Guessing was all right in its day.

The crowds were not large, being about 6000 Wednesday and Thursday and considerably smaller on Friday.

Photographer Roystan took many pictures of prize stock and fair views. The cuts appearing in this issue are made from his prints.

Geo. Pierce of Brownington exhibited some Mulefoot swine that are comparatively new to this vicinity but deserve special mention. No premiums were offered for this breed.

SUCCESSFUL COUNTY FAIR

First Exhibition of Reorganized Association Proves Successful Agricultural Fair. Good Races. Good Crowd.

The first annual fair of the new county-wide fair organization was a success. As stated in these columns last week, the Orleans county fair has "come back." To be sure this meeting was hurriedly arranged for and not every detail worked out with the care that time will give in the future, but as an agricultural fair and stock exhibit proved a success. In fact the number of livestock exhibits brought demanded more room than the sheds and barns on the grounds afforded and a number of exhibits were necessarily taken to stalls and barns just outside the grounds. This feature of the fair is particularly pleasing because an Orleans County fair must necessarily be an agricultural fair, and as time goes on and the fair grows, one of the very finest exhibitions of horses, cattle, dairy products and crops to be produced in the state will be found at the annual exhibitions of the Orleans County fair. Orleans county contains many fine dairies and large farms, and ranks at the top as an agricultural district.

Among the exhibits of cattle which attracted attention was the fine showing of the standard dairy types most common in Vermont, the Jersey and Holstein. The Guernsey, Ayrshires and Durhams were also well represented. The Monitor takes pleasure in showing pictures of a few of the individuals taking first prizes on another page and would be glad to use others had photographs been available.

The largest and best exhibits of Jersey stock may be credited to C. H. Root of North Craftsbury and G. F. Bickford of Sheffield. Several other farmers exhibited some fine individuals in this class which received much favorable comment.

The largest exhibitors in the Holstein class were Carl Bean of Glover, Geo. W. Moxley of Irasburg and C. T. Miles of Barton. J. A. Urie of West Glover also had a good display in the grades and other good stock was shown.

A. J. Anderson and son of West Glover had a fine display of registered Ayrshires and a few grades were also shown in the Ayrshire class. A glance at the records of some of the stock shows they are buttermakers.

Grant White of Glover and C. W. Urie of North Craftsbury made up the showing of registered Guernseys which certainly make handsome stock and good butter producers. There were also some fine grades in this class shown by several Orleans county farmers.

E. A. and N. G. Simpson of Sheffield entered about 40 head of stock, most of which took prizes in the native breed and registered Shorthorn classes. The exhibit of sheep and swine was not large but some exceptionally fine individuals were shown, especially might this be said of the registered Shropshire down sheep exhibited by H. P. and Ella F. Leland of Brownington.

There were many entries in the various horse classes and to the horseman the exhibit must have been pleasing. The Morgan horse which is now being given so much attention the county over was well represented at the fair. Several of the prize winners at the state fair and other large exhibits were present. The Ingalls Farm Morgans of Sheffield were there and Billy Root, the Whittier horse of Barton, P. T. Barber of Sheffield, G. T. Pierce of Orleans and O. A. Grow of Brownington all had several entries of Morgans.

Many fine animals were entered in the Standard bred class, general purpose and draft classes. Among

THREE BODIES RECOVERED

Willoughby Gives up Bodies of Badger and Tripp Brothers. Boat Found in Good Condition. Exact Cause Not Known.

The bodies of Dana and Montgomery Tripp and Clayton Badger, drowned in Willoughby lake Tuesday of last week by the upsetting of a sail boat have been recovered, the latter on Thursday and the bodies of the Tripp brothers on Saturday.

A recapitulation of the story as told by one who assisted in the search for the bodies and knows the circumstances thoroughly is as follows. The boat containing the three young men before mentioned started out for a short sail before dinner on the ill fated day.

There was a gusty north wind up the lake. The course seemed to be to Blueberry point, across to Graystone ledge and back to camp near the Richardson hotel. The party was last seen by a fishing party near Split Rock. The sailboat was then making for Blueberry Point. They were evidently about halfway across to the place where the second tack was to be made when the boat sank. Only two people saw the tack and the run to the point of sinking. A party was in the pasture above the Richardson House and to them every thing was visible. The mast suddenly tipped almost to the water, leaned there for a short time, then the sail laid flat on the water and the whole suddenly disappeared under water. No one was seen although the water was carefully scanned. One of the party went to the hotel, called up Ernest Wheeler, who went out with a power boat and in ten minutes' time his boat was searching for anything that might be floating from the wreck in the vicinity of the accident. Nothing was found. Later three caps were picked up. Some grapplings were obtained, others were made and a search kept up until near midnight without success. A number of power and row boats searched unsuccessfully all day Wednesday. On Thursday afternoon the boat and one body was found. Friday was so stormy that nothing could be done but on Saturday forenoon the two remaining bodies were found. Badger's body was found Thursday, Montgomery Tripp's body was found first on Saturday and Dana Tripp's body was found last.

All were found on or near the boat. All were expert swimmers and divers.

The boat was raised Thursday afternoon and towed ashore. On Friday it was broken up for complete examination and sunk. It was bought from Portland some years ago and was in excellent condition. The boat has been on the lake ten years and never tipped over before. It is believed the boat was turned into the wind by a coast gust, then it received the whole force of the wind on the broadside of the sail. This caused the boat to tip and fill. The boat was found stern foremost in the direction it had been running. If this is true the men would be under the sail and it may account for the fact that though all were excellent swimmers, none seemed able to save himself. The whole thing happened very quickly. Montgomery Tripp's watch stopped at 11.10.

Mrs. Charlotte Smith of Boston, Mass., who has spent her summer vacation here for several years, is again at Hotel Barton.

Mrs. Campbell, Miss Maud Campbell, Mrs. Denning and Mrs. Marshall and children, all of Montreal, are at Elma May's for a time.

Mrs. A. R. Marsh, of Enosburg Falls, who has been spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Mosher, has returned home.

The young people of the two churches conducted an interesting meeting at the Willoughby schoolhouse Sunday, fifteen going from this village.

A piece of knitted lace exhibited in Floral hall at the fair by Mrs. Greeley, was not called for and can be had by calling at Mrs. C. A. Barrows's.

Mrs. E. A. Grow, who has been ill for some time, has gone to Lynn, Mass., for hospital treatment. She was accompanied by Mr. Grow and a physician.

A slight blaze occurred Friday at the gasoline tank near the Crystal Lake house while the tank was being filled from the Standard Oil wagon, but no damage
